

Glenna Chapman
(Glendive Conference)

Keynote: Navigating the Uncharted Journey

Glenna Chapman is a retired high school and junior high Home Economics teacher. She now works part time as a Long-Term Care Ombudsman, visiting the nursing homes and three assisted living facilities in Miles City, to advocate for the rights of the residents. Through this, she became interested in dementia care, both at home and in the facilities she visits.

Glenna leads an Alzheimer's/Dementia Support Group once a month, and well as gives in-service training in dementia care. She recently received a grant from the Montana Geriatric Education Center at the University of Montana for dementia education and to promote dementia awareness.