American Indians

The Affordable Care Act and Indian Country

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) requires that everyone have health insurance or get an exemption in order to avoid a tax penalty. There are new affordable insurance options available through Montana Medicaid and the new Health Insurance Marketplace that make getting covered easier and more affordable than ever. Additionally, many American Indians may qualify for an exemption to avoid a tax penalty, even if they don't have health insurance coverage.

Both Montana Medicaid and the Marketplace have specific provisions for Indian Country. Some of these provisions are for enrolled members of federally recognized tribes, while others are for descendants, or those eligible for Indian Health Service, Tribal Health, or Urban Indian health services. Below, we provide information about the American Indian provisions, but remember that if you have any questions about what you might be eligible for, just ask!
