Kassie received her Bachelor's Degree from Montana State University Billings in Health and Human Performance with the Health Promotion Option. Kassie is enrolled Whiteclay from Ft. Belknap Montana. She is married with three children and currently lives in Billings.

Kassie Runsabove is the Program Coordinator and Cultural Liaison for the Child Ready MT Program. This program works collaboratively with the Emergency Medical Services for Children and the State Health Department. Child Ready works state wide with Critical access facilities, Hospital, and I.H.S facilities to maintain equipment, policy and education for staff to treat ill and injured children in the ED.

Kassie presents cultural sensitivity awareness trainings to providers, nurse and clinical staff across Montana.

Previously Kassie worked as a Health Prevention Specialist with Riverstone health in the Cancer Screening program. She worked closely with Crow and Northern Cheyenne tribes as well as urban American Indian women to educate and case manage women through screening and cancer care.

Kassie is passionate about education, awareness, networking, and collaboration to access all resources available for underserved populations such as the American Indian population.
